

From the Margin to the Center

Equitable History Education

Enables

students of diverse cultural backgrounds to see themselves

Teaches

students about their culture's history

Celebrates

those cultures' contributions to society

Creates

opportunities for faculty to strengthen cultural competence

Holds space

for difficult but respectful conversations about ethnicity and culture

Empowers

students to reach beyond their own cultural filters

Inspires

students to develop the skills required to participate in a more free and democratic nation

